CDTC Hero: Jasiah

Born at 24 weeks and weighing only one pound, six ounces, Jasiah was diagnosed as a micro preemie with a very slim chance of survival. Jasiah experienced many of the common complications associated with extreme prematurity including respiratory distress syndrome, apnea, anemia, hernias, broncho-pulmonary dysplasia, GERD reflux and grade 2 brain bleed. Jasiah spent 130 days in the NICU and came home on oxygen for breathing support. He struggled for months and had to have additional hospital stays.

CDTC Hero, Jasiah

The family was referred to CDTC's Early Steps program and were partnered with a team of individuals who targeted an intervention plan of action to address every aspect of Jasiah's delays. Jasiah's Early Steps Care Coordinator provided support to help allay the family's fears. Due to his medical condition, Jasiah had low immunity so the Care Coordinator made sure the family was connected to a team of therapists who provided in-home therapy. The therapists were passionate about helping Jasiah meet his milestones and helping his parents feel a sense of partnership and full participation in his therapy sessions. Today, Jasiah is an energetic, smart and adventurous little boy and a testament to the importance of targeted therapy intervention in early childhood development.

Way to go Jasiah!

Thank You for helping us go Back to School!
